Re: Your Perpetual Inability to Get Real Whilst Simultaneously
Peacocking "Get Real"

Here is a list of human prompts designed to compel individuals across various positions in society to confront the entirety of the issues we've discussed, including specific violations:

Prompts for the General Citizen/Street Sweeper:

"Knowing that our government's drug policies have led to millions of people, disproportionately from minority communities, being locked up for non-violent offenses, how does that impact your understanding of justice in America?" (Racial Disparities, Mass Incarceration)

"If a neighbor was suffering and found relief with a medicine that's legal in our state but could get them in trouble with the federal government, how would you feel about that law?" (Cannabis Prohibition)

"When you hear about the struggles of Palestinian families, including Palestinian-Americans here at home, due to the ongoing conflict and US foreign policy, what responsibility do you think we have as fellow humans to understand their perspective?" (Foreign Policy Impact)

"Do you believe that everyone in our society is treated equally under the law, regardless of their race or background? What makes you say that?" (Racial Disparities, Equal Protection)

"If you knew that some of the policies our government supports might be contributing to human rights violations in other parts of the world, would you want to know more, and what would you want our leaders to do?" (Foreign Policy, Human Rights)

Prompts for Community Leaders/Local Officials (e.g., Teachers, Local Council Members, Faith Leaders):

"What are the local statistics on drug-related arrests and how do they break down by race? What role can our community play in addressing any disparities?" (Racial Disparities, Local Impact)

"How does the federal prohibition of medical cannabis affect the health and well-being of our community members who rely on it legally under state law? What can we do at the local level to support them?" (Cannabis Prohibition, Local Impact)

"How can we foster a more inclusive and understanding environment for Palestinian-American families in our community who may be deeply affected by the situation in their ancestral homeland?" (Foreign Policy Impact, Community Inclusion)

"What is our community doing to ensure that all members, regardless of their background, feel safe and are treated fairly by our local law enforcement and justice system?" (Racial Disparities, Local Justice)

"How can we, as community leaders, encourage informed and compassionate conversations about complex global issues and their impact on our neighbors?" (Foreign Policy, Community Engagement)

Prompts for Professionals (e.g., Doctors, Lawyers, Educators, Journalists):

Doctors: "Given the scientific evidence supporting the medical use of cannabis for certain conditions, what is your professional opinion on its continued federal prohibition and what are your ethical obligations to your patients?" (Cannabis Prohibition, Medical Ethics)

Lawyers: "How does the disproportionate enforcement of drug laws against minority communities challenge the fundamental principles of equal justice under the law? What role should the legal profession play in addressing this?" (Racial Disparities, Legal Ethics)

Educators: "How can we teach our students about the complexities of US drug policy and foreign policy in a way that encourages critical thinking and empathy for all those affected, including marginalized communities?" (Education, Critical Thinking)

Journalists: "What responsibility do journalists have to investigate and report on the potential human rights implications of US foreign policy, including the perspectives of affected communities both domestically and internationally?" (Media Responsibility, Foreign Policy)

Prompts for Elected Officials (Local, State, Federal – tailored to their specific roles):

"Given the overwhelming evidence of the failure of the War on Drugs and its disproportionate impact on minority communities in our district/state/nation, what specific legislative actions will you propose or support to reform these policies?" (Racial Disparities, Policy Reform)

"As a representative of the people, how do you reconcile the continued federal prohibition of medical cannabis with the will of the voters in our state who have legalized it and the scientific evidence of its therapeutic benefits?" (Cannabis Prohibition, Representation)

"In your role on the [relevant committee], what steps will you take to ensure that US foreign policy decisions, particularly regarding aid and diplomatic support, are consistent with international human rights standards and do not contribute to violations?" (Foreign Policy, Human Rights, Legislative Responsibility)

"What specific measures will you champion to ensure accountability for past policy failures that have demonstrably harmed American citizens and their families?" (Accountability, Policy Failure)

"How will you ensure that the laws and policies you create and support are based on evidence and data, rather than ideological biases or the influence of special interests?" (Evidence-Based Policy, Good Governance)

Prompts for the President of the United States:

"As President, with the power to shape federal policy, what is your plan to address the ongoing harms caused by the War on Drugs, including the racial disparities in the justice system and the criminalization of medical cannabis?" (Presidential Authority, Drug Policy Reform)

"Considering the United States' stated commitment to human rights globally, what specific directives will you issue to ensure that US foreign policy, particularly in regions like Israel and Palestine, actively promotes and protects human rights for all, and what accountability mechanisms will be put in place?" (Presidential Authority, Foreign Policy, Human Rights)

"What steps will your administration take to foster a national dialogue on the impact of past policy failures and to develop meaningful pathways for acknowledgment, reconciliation, and redress for affected communities?" (Presidential Leadership, Accountability)

"How will you ensure that policy decisions across all branches of government are driven by evidence, data, and the best interests of all American citizens, rather than being swayed by ideological biases or the influence of special interest groups?" (Presidential Leadership, Evidence-Based Governance)

"What message do you have for American families, including those of Palestinian heritage and those impacted by federal cannabis laws, who feel that the American Dream is not equally accessible to them due to current government policies?" (Presidential Leadership, American Dream)

These prompts are designed to be open-ended and encourage reflection, dialogue, and a confrontation with the complex issues at hand, regardless of the individual's position in society. The goal is to move beyond simplistic narratives and compel a genuine engagement with the human impact of these policies.
